Innovation meets sustainability: Brainy walls made of recycled felt

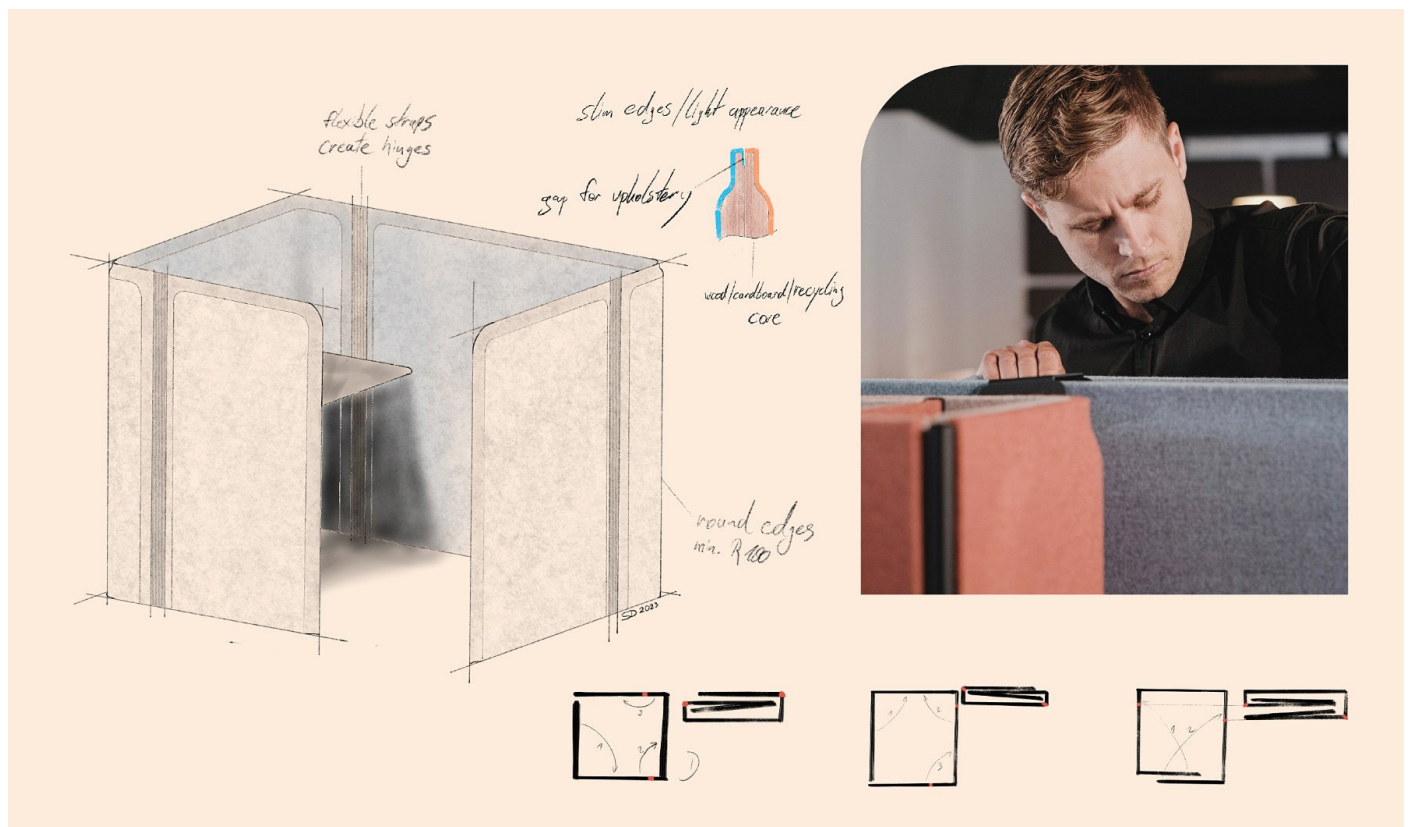

The material used to make Brainy walls deserves special attention because of its origin. The thermoformable felt of the walls is recycled, produced from recycled PET bottles.

European Design

"To me, the most pleasing products are always those that can captivate through their particular simplicity. Those that can elicit a smile or even astonishment from the viewer with their clever function or simply a completely new idea. Brainy is just a great example of such a product, which is why I am particularly happy about the result of this project."

Simon Schossböck – the designer of Brainy
